Welcome to Prince William County, Virginia

If you are looking to rediscover the timeless stories of America's rich past while enjoying a wide menu of attractions and refreshing outdoor recreation opportunities (including golf, golf and more golf), you've found it here in Prince William County, Virginia.

In the foothills of the verdant Bull Run Mountains, you can traverse the pristine and scenic grounds where soldiers fought the first major battle of America's Civil War, at Manassas National Battlefield Park. Visitors to the park can take advantage of miles of hiking and bridle trails, picnic areas, and lakes and streams open for fishing.

A short drive from the park, stroll the Victorian streets of historic Old Town Manassas, browse distinct shops for one-of-a-kind collectibles, dine at unique restaurants, and trace the area's heritage at the Manassas Museum.

Along Prince William County's glistening Potomac River shoreline, enjoy rich history and abundant outdoor recreation at Leesylvania State Park. Visitors can hike historic trails leading to the hilltop home site of Revolutionary War General Henry "Light Horse Harry" Lee. For outdoors-lovers, a pier stretches into deep Potomac River waters for great fishing opportunities, and the park's sandy beaches are a favorite of sunbathers and volleyball players.

At nearby Prince William National Forest Park, discover why the U.S. Army used the 17,000-acre forest to train spies during World War II. Families can hike to scenic waterfalls and enjoy natural wildlife, stunning fall foliage, and colorful spring flowers on driving loops. Campers will enjoy the park's recreational vehicle, tent, and cabin camping options.

In 1608, Captain John Smith sailed the Occoquan River and discovered a friendly Indian tribe that provided him with food and supplies. Modern day visitors to quaint and charming Historic Occoquan can discover friendly shopkeepers at boutiques, art galleries, and antique stores.

If you are looking for great shopping deals, head to Potomac Mills Mall, one of America's largest shopping malls featuring up to 70 percent discounts at more than 220 stores.

For the golfer in the family, Prince William County offers ten championship golf courses set in a variety of different locales.

After long vacation days, families can sit back and enjoy unmatched entertainment and fun. The 13-acre Splash Down Waterpark offers aquatic excitement with lazy rivers and cannonball slides. Concerts at the area's best outdoor music venue, Nissan Pavilion, can be enjoyed from a picnic blanket. Families can excite in traditional baseball games with the Potomac Nationals, the minor league affiliate of the Washington Nationals.

Not able to see and do all you want while at the tournament, you will certainly want to return for a family vacation or bring the golf clubs and tee up on any one of our fine courses.
